vict Padrone Prisco.

He Is President of the Italian Secretary Thompson Tells the His- They Break Into Auction Rooms Democratic Club.

Of Course that Will Make No Difference to Tammany.

Mayor's Marshal Englehard, in rushing to the defense of the padrone recently, said that none of the latter was obliged take out licenses from the city to conduct an employment agency because they never charged their victims a fee for procuring them employment. He told "Evening World" reporter that the ent the padrone charged a fee he at once came within the Employment mency law and should have a license. The Marshal added that he had read all "The Evening World's" stories upon the

In making that statement the Marshal evidently wanted proof that the law was evidently wanted proof that the law was being violated put into his hand. If so, all the proof needed is here submitted and it is now for the Marshal to act.

Antonio Prisco was President of the Italian Democratic Club, the Club which, acting under the advice of the padrone, has every year driven the misguided laborers like sheep to the polis to vote as ordered. This Club has, it is alleged, aided the colonizers to give full citizenship papers to men who were in the country only a few weeks. For this kind of political work Prisco had a "puil" in the different department, particularly the Street-Cleaning Department, where he could apparently place men at will.

From all of his victims he demanded sums of from $30 to $75 as fees in order to procure appointments. Some of the men were actually appointed. Others did not procure positions, but they paid blood money all the same. Prisco is blood money all the same. Frisco is still at large.

The evidence against Padrone Prisco is furnished this morning by five Italian laborers. Their affidavit is in the possession of "The Evening World," and in case Marshal Englehard makes up his mind to do his duty that affidavit is at his disposal. The testifying victims are Bonato Marinaro, Glovanni Carbone, Donato Piniano, Giuseppe Putulore and Giuseppe De Lazaro.

Donato Piniano, Giuseppe Putulore and Giuseppe De Lazearo.
Marinaro swears that he paid $30 to Prisco to procure him a place in the Street-Cleaning Department. Prisco, for the amount named, agreed to do so. The contract was never carried out, and Prisco has refused to return the money. For the same purpose, Carbone swears he paid $40 to Prisco. He never secured the employment, however, and has never set back his money.

Piniano swears he paid the $50 to the President of the Italian Democratic Club for a similar position. He did secure employment for cleven days removing snow from the streets, but Prisco neither paid him for his work nor did be return the $50.

moving snow from the streets, but true paid him for his work nor did he return the $50.

Putabore swears he paid $40 to the same man for similar work. In order to raise the money he was compelled to pawn his watch and chain. He never secured the coveted employment and he is still mourning for his money.

De Lazzaro swears that for sixteen days he was employed as foreman in the Street-Cleaning Department under Prisco. He was never paid for his work, but, worse still, he advanced out of his own pocket $551 to pay some of Prisco's laborers. He is out the whole amount. Similar amdavits were also made by Faustino D'Gorio, who paid $50 to Prisco, and Alexandro Troscello, who paid a like amount to the same man for a similar purpose. They are still waiting for a return of their money or for their positions. These are only a few of hundreds of cases. Yet the Mayor's Marshal says the padrones do not demand a fee.

In "The Evening World" yesterday it was stated that the padrone system had extended to the police courts, and that in some instances unfortunate Italians were compelled even to pay to have their hungry children committed to institutions. The case of Miriscellia Biasgio was instanced. It was stated that he had paid $15 to Raffaele Cavole to have his two children committed to the Catholic Protectory.

No sooner had that story been publications.

No sooner had that story been published yesterday than Cavole hurried over to Banker Palumbo 52 office, where the original complaint of extortion had been made, and returned the money. He also made affidavit that instead of appropriating the $15 to his own use had given it to the Italian interpretar of a certain Police Court in Brooklyn, this morning, vacanta and interpretary of a certain police of extortion had given it to the Italian interpretary of a certain Police Court in Brooklyn, this morning, vacanta and interpretary of New York, from paying over to Richard E. It is needless to say that the court interpreter, to whom Cavole paid the money, will receive attantion the court interpreter, to whom Cavole is paid the money, will receive attention later.

"This is one of the worst parts of the padrone system," said Hev. Father Bandini, of the St. Raphael Society, to an "Evening World" reporter this morning. "Not only are court interpreters interested in this business of committing children to the Protectory, but I know for a fact that women are actually engaged in the extortion. Whether they are agents of the padrone people or not I am unable to say. If "The Evening World" can succeed in prosecuting a few of them it will be doing a great work.

The St. Raphael Society held a meeting last night, and mapped out a full plan of campaign to crush the padrone. As a result, one of the first moves was made this morning, when a labor bureau for the employment of Italians was opened at 50 Spring street. One of the rules of the branch is that no member of the Society can take the place of another labore, striker or otherwise, unless paid the same money as the locked-out men.

In other words, they cannot work for less money than that paid to organized labor.

Whether the Street-Cleaning Department is in carnet in wanting to set whether the Street-Cleaning Department is in earnest in wanting to get rid of the padrones as Commissioner Andrews stated, it is certain that many obstacles are being thrown in the way of the St. Raphael Society and the antipadrone bankers. Money should have been forthcoming for the Italians who worked early in the week. Commissioner Andrews's men, however, did not have the checks ready.

Water Purveyor Peter Milne, of Brooklyn.

Water Purveyor Peter Milne, of Brooklyn, succeeded to-day in discovering who the plumber was that made the surreptitious connection with the De Kalb avenue main, from which the Chizens' Electric-Light Company, owned exclusively by politicians, has been secretly drawing water for seven bollers and evading the payment of water rates.

The man who made the seret connection is Stephen M. McKeever, well known in Brooklyn politics, with a plumbing shop at Washington and York streets.

For years McKeever has done all the city plumbing work, the Brooklyn Bridge and elevated road work. He is now rated bring the total amount up for five years and six months to nearly $50.00.

Mickeever, the plumber who made the connection, was sent for and will be called upon to make a statement to Commissioner White, and explained why he did not comply with the law when his men made the connection in ISS.

The Commissioner of City Works has the power to revoke McKeever's license and to impose a heavy fine as punishment for the offense.

The officials are now in a quandary as to the next mave to be made in the matter. The Citizens' Electric Light Company, under contract, supplies 1, limits of hotsices and 2 harris of turnips.
